

HARRISON
GORDON

Gordon & Gordon represents cases literally “ripped from the headlines.” The firm was a member of the tobacco litigation team that represented New Jersey in a $7.6 billion tobacco-industry settlement. Gordon & Gordon also participated in such infamous cases as the Pan Am 103 Lockerbie air crash disaster and the Seton Hall dormitory fire of January, 2000.

In 2006, Gordon & Gordon argued the “Lead Paint Case” before the New Jersey Supreme Court on behalf of 26 New Jersey municipalities and counties seeking billions in cleanup costs from the lead paint pigment industry. The case is being closely watched because of its national implications in the ongoing effort to protect children from lead paint poisoning.
